The Maryland Mayors Association Elects Pete Fosselman

The Mayors Group appoints Mayor of Kensington to lead the Maryland Mayors Association

Kensington, MD (July 15, 2015) - From owning a restaurant in Kensington to becoming mayor of the town and deputy secretary of Maryland, Pete Fosselman is scoring another success by being elected head of the Maryland Mayors Association, a division of the Maryland Municipal League. Fosselman, who is serving his fourth term as Kensington's mayor and still holds the position of Deputy Secretary of State, has been a powerful advocate for phased redevelopment in Kensington and a supporter of same-sex marriage in Maryland, takes on his next role in being the First Vice President of The Maryland Mayors Association under Governor Hogan.
